

Tattletale: Keeping Your Investments Safe

By Nikki Lawler, Marketing Manager for ReCasa Services

By now, you have surely noticed the increase in media reports on copper theft and other burglaries, especially on vacant or under repair properties. In virtually every metropolitan market in the United States, these burglaries have risen dramatically, and there does not appear to be an end in sight. Thieves are becoming increasingly brazen; in several cases, entire air conditioning units have been removed from properties. If you have a property currently under rehab or lease, what can you do to protect these valuable assets?

ReCasa Solutions, a division of ReCasa Financial Group, is pleased to offer the Tattletale Portable Alarm System, an affordable solution to theft prevention. With the Tattletale system, you get flexibility as to where you deploy the unit, and invaluable peace of mind knowing that your assets are being monitored 24 hours a day. Within one second of a break in being detected, the Tattletale system springs into action, contacting you, the police, or whomever you designate, and the thief is compromised.

The system doubles as a smoke detector, monitoring the air for fire and temperature changes. And if you decide to move the unit to another property, you have that flexibility as well. It's yours to relocate whenever you want.
